WELCOME ADDRESS

Dear Colleagues,

Developmental dysplasia of the hip (DDH) is still an major cause of disability in Europe. Although its incidence has declined with effective screening, acetabular dysplasia is an key cause of hip osteoarthritis. In this Instructional Course we intend to address some important aspects of this problem.

The Department of Orthopedics and Traumatology at Hacettepe University's Faculty of Medicine is excited to share their vast experience of DDH. We are looking forward to hosting this course and discussing various aspects of the treatment of DDH with a distinguished faculty. This faculty will include many of the leading experts in their fields in Turkish orthopaedics, supported by some distinguished guests from other countries in Europe.

The Hacettepe University Faculty of Medicine is the leading medical school in Ankara, the capital of Turkey. The meeting will be held in the University Convention Center and the live surgery will be broadcasted from the Hacettepe University Hospital Turkey's leading medical institution.

We look forward to welcoming all delegates to Turkey from 31 October to 1 November 2008.
