The International Forum on Mood and Anxiety Disorders (IFMAD) will be held from 09 to 11 November 2011 in Budapest, Hungary.

The most useful feature about IFMAD meetings is that current clinical hot topics and new data are presented in a balanced format, adequately dissected and discussed in a collegiate atmosphere, and digested over dinner.

The meetings are always enjoyable and informative and along with the usual updates on new treatments in other areas this year's IFMAD will be an efficient way of catching up with the latest developments.

This year topics that will be addressed include resistant depression, advances in the treatment of adolescent depression, targeted gene therapy, bipolar depression, treatment of anxiety, advances in the treatment of sleep disorders, managing placebo response. A core focus will be the low level of new psychotropic drugs and the future of antidepressant development.

We invite you to join us again in November 2011 to give you the opportunity to keep abreast of the latest advances. It will be our pleasure to welcome you in Budapest.

Siegfried Kasper,
Chairman

Stuart A. Montgomery,
Co-Chairman

Cipralex - the power to tackle depression at its core

Leaving no one behind

Presentation Film-coated tablets 5 10 15 20 mg, oral drops, solution 10 20 mg/ml and orodispersible tablets 10 20 mg. Indication Treatment of major depressive episodes, Treatment of panic disorder with or without agoraphobia, Treatment of social anxiety disorder (social phobia), Treatment of generalised anxiety disorder, Treatment of obsessive compulsive disorder. Dosage Adults: The recommended starting dose is 10 mg once daily. Depending on individual patient response the dose may be increased to a maximum of 20 mg once daily. An initial starting dose of 5 mg once daily is recommended in the treatment of elderly (>65 years), in panic disorder and in patients with reduced hepatic function. Children and adolescents (< 18 years): Cipralex should not be used in children and adolescents under 18 years of age. In combination with MAO-inhibitors. Should not be used during pregnancy unless clearly needed and after careful consideration of the

It is a general clinical experience with all antidepressant therapies that the risk of suicide may increase in the early stage of treatment. Close supervision of high-risk patients should accompany drug therapy. Patients (and caregivers) should be alerted about the need to monitor for emergence of suicidal behaviour or thoughts of harming themselves and to seek medical advice immediately if these symptoms present. SSRIs should be avoided in patients with unstable epilepsy, and patients with controlled epilepsy should be closely monitored. SSRIs should be used with caution in patients with a history of mania/hypomania. Treatment with SSRIs may alter glycaemic control. Insulin and/or oral hypoglycaemic dosage may need to be adjusted. The use of SSRIs/SNRIs has been associated with the development of akathisia. Hyponatraemia has been reported rarely with the use of SSRIs. There have been reports of cutaneous bleeding abnormalities. Interactions Caution is advised when taken in combination with MAO-inhibitors, serotonergic medicinal products, products lowering the seizure threshold, lithium, tryptophan, St. John's Wort, oral anticoagulants or antiplatelet agents (NSAIDs), and products predominantly metabolised by the enzymes CYP2C19 and CYP2D6. Undesirable effects Adverse reactions are most frequent during the first or second week of treatment and usually decrease in intensity and frequency with continued treatment.
